Accusations

Celestium is accused and responsible for the following actions.

- Slandering and Harassment towards users.
- Gossiping about many users on Discord in secret and then trying to cover it up.
- Her comment on Roblox saying “ Being gay is a sin. “.
- Witchcraft
- Forced religion down people’s throats.

Her comment on Roblox

One of the earliest and most notable controversies around Celestium stemmed from a stream in Roblox in October 2024. While playing a social hangout game called Keystone inside Roblox, she used voice chat to preach about her Christian beliefs. During that session, she reacted to players using an LGBTQ+ pride flag and referenced certain Biblical verses, which some viewers interpreted as condemning LGBTQ+ identities.

The video containing the incident:

Some started to hold a LGBT+ flag, to which she brought up that the Bible says it's a sin, most likely referring to Leviticus 18:22 and 20:13. A few minutes later, user "brooklynbumbch" started to cuss at Celestium before quitting the game.

On 11 October 2024, the clip was posted on TikTok, receiving around 1,000 views, whereas on X/Twitter went viral, received with praise from the Christian community and widespread criticism from LGBT+ members. The original tweet has been deleted, while the original clip and full VOD are still available on TikTok and YouTube, respectively.

As someone who is familiar with the LGBT+ community, I considered Celestium's comments on Roblox to be discriminatory and completely disrespectful to every Roblox player involved in the incident.

According to Roblox's Community Guidelines, Celestium's actions in-game could be a violation of the Roblox's Terms of Service which are grounds for suspensions and bans.

Struggles with Sexual Sin

Celestium has been known for her struggles with Sexual Sin. This was admitted when a contributor shared me a screenshot that proves this.

This Screenshot is from a user which I will not name in this document.

I've seen it. I'll def be praying for you. It's hard because sex can feel exhilarating and trust me Im still struggling myself

I would just say - so others dont stumble - maybe you can have us as accountability partners?

not saying people should look for it or force you to share but it might help to not post. And even getting rid of the things that dont help (edited)

It takes time but I want you to keep growing in your walk with Christ.

And I guess another thing is I saw some loli stuff I was just wondering what your thoughts were on that? (Im not trying to attack you just wanna understand and see if I can help)

Gossiping about other users on Discord

Celestium has been known for gossiping about other members on VCs on Discord. She does this with other known Vtubers such as SylentBell, Eepy panda and Ubermarshal.

In these VCs, Celestium along with these Vtubers mentioned above would discuss, trash talk and gossip about members.

To make things even more darker is that they try to act all high and mighty about these trash talks.

After doing some looking around, I found out that SylentBell has an active partnership with ' GamerSupps '.

Why would a Merchandise company like GamerSupps have someone who is a gossiping, trash talking squirt as a partner of their company.

SylentBell is also a Christian Vtuber but less critical than Celestium.

Differences in beliefs and religions

Celestium is a Eastern Orthodox type Christian as stated on her X page.

Rev and Strawb are both regular Christian Vtubers but they are not as critical as Celestium.

Maria Grace is a regular type Christian Vtuber but she performs better. She Prays properly and preaches properly and she has more easier to understand knowledge for those looking to get close to god.

SSylentBell, Eepypanda and Ubermarshal are all regular type Christians also.

I'm a Eastern Orthodox type Christian but I preach and pray better than Celestium. I don't talk nonsense about other religions. Plus, I hate street preachers because they act that same way like Celestium is doing on her streams.

I do aim to get people close to god but without the need of hearing a stupid gospel.

I'm not a gospel preacher so please don't not ask me why.

My opinion and experience with Celestium

Me and Celestium have issues getting along with each other because of our differences with Religion and political related topics.

After a ' Karen ' individual on X decided to post a document about me on X. I lost access to Celestium's Discord server. It later on has spread over her Twitch Chat which led to me getting banned from her chat by a moderator named ' Green '.

Green is one of the most inexperienced and most newbie tyoe mods I've ever seen. It looked like he just his mod career months ago. He's also Christian.

Conclusion

Right now, Celestium just has me blocked on X and I still remained banned on her Twitch and Discord. I also cannot chat in her YouTube streams but I can still watch anonymously.

But because of the conflict that happened on X , I'm going to go learn my religion from someone else that really knows their faith correctly.

To Celestium

If you are seeing this, I hope you realize what you did and come out and apologize and figure out how you will address this nonsense to your viewers.

Your friends will be very disappointed in you when they find out about what you did.

You did more than harm to these innocent people and now, It's time tgat I say that you must pay the price for what you did to these people.

If you can't apologize to me or the people you brought harm to, then what's the point of you being a Christian anyway. You literally have shown that you have absolutely no faith whatsoever. You showed that you have no relationship with Christ. You don't even know him either. The verses you quoted on stream were twisted by you to get people to believe in things that they are not comfortable believing in.

Not every person here on earth is born and raised by a family who is associated with a religion.

I'm actually born and raised by an Atheist family. Then later on chosen to be part of a religion that is worth learning about.

So, I hope you realize what you did and figure out what are you gonna do to address this.
